7. COURSE DESCRIPTION

The complete distance of Dynafit Hardangerjøkulen Ultra is 95 km.

There is to no/poor cell phone coverage along the trail and there are long distances between check points. The check points are Finse 38 km, Krækkja 62 km and Kjeldebu 77km.

The route follows the Norwegian trekking Association's route network all the way, except the last section towards the finish, where the trail will be marked with marking bands. All participants must have a GPS for navigation. A GPS watch or telephone is not good enough. There won't be any form of marking along the trail (km, intersection etc.). The trail runs in mountain terrain, some simple and other very technical demanding sections. Some parts of the trail can also be covered in snow. Be aware that the terrain is demanding and in high altitude.

There are long distances in between cabins, and the weather changes quickly at the Hardangervidda. It's important that your backpack contains all you need in case you'll be stuck in the mountains for several hours if anything should occur. There will be crew in Rembesdal, crew and a food station at Finse, crew and a food station at Krækkja, and crew and food station in Kjeldebu. Participants may be taken out of the race along the entire route by crew or health care professionals, if they consider that it's not justifiable for you to continue.

We strongly recommend that all athletes take a careful look at the entire route on detailed maps before signing up for the race.

The GPX route can be downloaded here: Xtremeidfjord

Start Finse – distance 38 km

The first part runs in technically demanding terrain and is perhaps the most demanding part of the entire course with a lot of altitudes to conquer. You run on nice paths, on rugged paths, on rocks and in rubble. Here you get absolutely everything you could want from mountain terrain.

When passing the crew in Rembesdalsseter, be sure to fill the water bottles, now a longer portion waits without of filling water. The trail rounds the lake (DO NOT descend towards Rembesdalsseter) and continues up through rubble and further up and tough climb up on the rocks to the top of the Lureggane. After this you'll enter some nice paths. There are snow-covered areas in the trail and pay particular attention to the edges of any snow blades as the edges can easily break.

The trail will take you around the Hardangerjøkulen glacier and you'll be able to get a panoramic view of the Hardangerfjord. The trail is very demanding so stay focused.

Finse – Krækkja - distance 24 km

There is a steady climb from Finse and towards Krækkja in the first section. The terrain is rocky and somewhat hilly. The trail starts from Finsehytta along the Rallarvegen a few hundred meters, before continuing to a path across the threshold dam on the east side of Finsevatnet. As soon as you are over, take the path to the left towards Krækkja. By Hansebufloten the trail divides, here it is important to follow the marking towards Krækkja and NOT toward Kjeldebu. The last part along the waterfront of the Drageidfjord is somewhat less rocky before Krækkja suddenly appears behind a hill at the end of the lake.

Krækkja – Kjeldebu - distance 15 km

From Krækkja to Kjeldebu there is a nice running slope in gentle downhill. This is by far the easiest and shortest leg. The trail starts at the same trail you arrived from, but you'll take a quick left and follow the marking towards Kjeldebu. The checkpoint Kjeldebu is not the DNT cabin itself but is located on the north side of the fishing pond.

HARDANGERJØKULEN ULTRA

Kjeldebu – finish line - distance
18 km

The last part of the trail is ahead of you. It is farther to the finish than you think. Maybe the darkness will come upon you and you have to use headlamp. The trail follows the slope down the Kjeldo waterway. You cross the river Leiro before starting a steep and tough climb up Storaberget. Here you'll shortly be in the tree line again. The ascent descends after the steepest section up Storaberget and the trail winds inward along the main drag until you arrive at Hallingspranget. Here are several path crossings, but you should follow the signs towards Liseth. When you pass the Gryteskaret you will come down into the marked trail towards the finish.

Checkpoints

It is important that everyone enter the cabin at Finse, Krækkja and Kjeldebu as these are checkpoints. It's also important that a clear message is giving if you decide to withdraw from the race.

Picture 1 Food station at Krækkja

Finse 38 km – tomato soup with meat and bread, nuts, bananas, water and sports drinks delivered by Winforce.

HARDANGERJØKULEN ULTRA

12. RESERVE TRAIL

The race starts from Liseth Pensjonat and Hyttetun and follows the road to a path alongside the river Isdølo. The athletes run between the cabins at Gryteskarsete before starting the ascent towards Grytehogra.

The athletes follow the trail down towards the top of the ski slope 2 km from Grytehogra, before turning off and heading up towards the top of Grønenuten. After Grønenuten, there is a trail junction, further following a DNT path towards Kjeldebu. Here, the athletes run past a trail junction at Hallingspranget, and after approx. 15 minutes they climb into a steep descent down to Lake Sysenvatnet. Then over a bridge by the river Leiro before it goes up again from Lake Sysenvatnet along the river Kjeldo. Just before Kjeldebu, the trail crosses a bridge. The athletes pass Kjeldebu at approx. 22 km.

The trail continues the DNT-marked trail, up Kjeldedal and over Olavsbohæa down to the tourist cabin Krækkja. There is a nice path up Kjeldedal. Just before the bridge over the outskirts of Drageidfjorden, there is a new trail junction, and here you will cross the bridge in the direction of Krækkja. From Krækkja to Fagerheim mountain cabin, a trail follows the trail on the north side of lake Storekrækkja.

Out of Fagerheim mountain cabin, the athletes pass 42 km, and down a path to the main road: Rv. 7. The trail follows alongside the road and over a bridge and passes a boathouse shortly afterwards. On the trail again, the athletes follow the south side of lake Storekrækkja. At the end of the lake, they once again come to a trail junction at the end of Drageidfjorden. This time heading in direction of Halne.

The athletes meet some hilly terrain through Halnebotnane, before seeing Rv. 7 again. The trail goes straight down to the main road, without stopping by Halne fjellstova. The trail is DNT-marked, so the direction is obvious. The junction will be manned.

The path is now heading towards Bjoreidalen, in gentle and wavy terrain. At the end of the Loftstovedalen at approx. 60 km, the athletes have a beautiful view over the valley Bjoreidalen, which spreads through the landscape. A nice descent to Bjoreidalshytta, crossing over the road and onto the trail. Then follow along a river to a farm area called Nybu. It is important to note that one should not cross the river. The trail winds up the north side towards Nybunuten. It is a short uphill climb before looking over to the cabins at Dyranut.

At Dyranut, the athletes will cross the main road again. It will be guards that help them across the road. There is no DNT-marked trail to Kjeldebu, and this part is just under 10 km of mainly gentle descent. After Kjeldebu, the athletes run on the same trail as at the start of the race to the finish.
