5. TRAIL DESCRIPTION

The distance of Dynafit Hardangervidda Marathon is 42,7 km and the trail has an elevation of 1 540 altitude meters.

The distance of the Half Marathon is 22,8 km and the trail has an elevation of 1 000 altitude meters.

The entire trail is marked using adhesive bands.

Dynafit Hardangervidda Marathon

This is a Marathon and a Half Marathon in THE Hardangervidda national park. The entire trail is within the mountain terrain and you get to experience some of the most magnificent areas we have to offer. A varied and somewhat technical demanding trail will keep the excitement going while going along. There are in addition to extreme altitude stretches which will get your heart racing. This will be both hard and brutal, and one thing is for sure, beautiful!

Liseth pensjonat will be our base for the day. They are known for their friendly and welcoming atmosphere and their great kitchen. Tracking of the participants will be shown here using a large screen. Xtremeidfjord's crew will per usual do their best to make sure you will have an unforgettable experience in the mountains, both in the trail and in the start/finishing area.

The start for both distances will be from the parking lot in Høel. There are limited parking spaces here, so it is important to consider extra time to get to the starting area. If your accommodation is at Liseth we recommend you to leave your car there and walk the 10-15 minutes it takes to get to the start area.

Trail

The first part of the trail is the same for both distances.

You start from the parking area in Høel, where you will run along a gravel road for about 600m before you enter the trail and set course towards Måbøgdane. If you look up towards the sky you will see Høloksla (1147m above sea level), here is where you should feel the excitement, as this will indeed be a very heavy hike! After roughly 2km you will leave the trail and follow the adhesive bands instead towards the top. This will be a challenge, but your reward is a magnificent view! Follow the adhesive bands towards Hellefjell, you will follow a moraine ridge with a nice pathway, along with certain parts without a trail, keep in mind some of these are rough. After about 10,5km you will get to Hjølmoberget and the first food station, make sure to have plenty as you have yet to go far. Next, the trail will take you along the tourist trail to Skisete. If you have attended Hardangervidda Marathon previously you might recognise this area, except this time you are going the opposite way. From Skisete the trail will take you down to Feet.

After the bridge in Feet, the trails will divide.

HARDANGERVIDDA MARATHON

Half Marathon trail – final part

You're almost there! Continue up the road from the bridge in Feet, cross the main road RV7 and follow the gravel road to the finish line at Liseth Pensjonat.

Marathon trail – final part

If you're part of the Marathon you've still got quite the way to go when you get to Feet. From here you will follow the light trail towards the ski centre at Maurseth. The trail from Feet to Maurseth consists of about 4km gravel road. You will need to cross the main road going over the pedestrian bridge. When you arrive at Maurseth the second feeding station will greet you, you will want to take advantage of this as you will embark on the second climbing leg. Prepare yourself for Eidfjord's version of the monster trail in Tour de Ski. Going up the downhill slope there is a gravel road following the first part up to the water tower, from here you will need to follow the trail up to Grønenuten (1181m above sea level) roughly 400 altitude meters. Continuing there is a nice trail with great views of the glacier Hardangerjøkulen. Be aware of the trail crossing at around 29 km, near Hallingspranget, where you should take the less-used trail leading to Kleivane in Isdalen. In Isdalen you find a short part of gravel before you'll meet the crew awaiting you with a drink to get you going for the finishing lap back in the terrain. You'll be heading up towards Smyttet before going towards Gryteskar heading towards Liseth and the finishing line.

Finish area – The same for both distances

In the finishing area, there will be drinks awaiting you, along with some soup, honour and glory. Here we can gossip around the fire pit and maybe joke about the challenges you might've endured during the day. Feel free to wear your amazing finisher t-shirt, it's yours to wear and you've deserved it! Congratulations!
